Dr. Arturo Morales Carrion
Secretary of State
San Juan, Puerto Rico

Dear Dr. Carrion:

While service to retiring faculty members is not an ordinary function of the University placement operations, I am taking a rather unusual step in bringing to your attention the name of Professor Boris Stanfield, who will be available February 1, 1957 due to the mandatory retirement policy at Columbia. I am enclosing herewith three copies of Professor Stanfield's background in the event that you or some of your associates may be interested in knowing of his availability.

Boris Stanfield's outstanding service in our Economics Department for twenty-five years is recognized by students, faculty, and the administration. His vigor and enthusiasm, which belie his age, as well as his demonstrated ability leave me to sincerely feel that there is a place for him to continue his work on either a full-time or part-time consulting basis, inside or outside the academic sphere.

If you have any suggestions Professor Stanfield may be contacted directly or through me.

Sincerely yours,

Samuel H. Beach
Director of Placement
