Continuing the series of meetings which it has convened at the request of the United States National Commission for UNESCO, the Social Science Research Council takes pleasure in inviting you to participate in a meeting for the consideration of some aspects of UNESCO's social science program, at the office of the Council on Friday, February 17, 1961, beginning at 9.30 a.m. and ending about 5.00 p.m.

The agenda will include, among other items, consideration of the social science programs of UNESCO for the next three years; plans for the 8th National Conference in Boston in 1961 which has Africa as its theme; and reports on the 1960 General Conference in Paris and on other meetings.

Under a new procedure, member states are invited to offer suggestions for the 1963-64 program of UNESCO in advance of the issuance of preliminary program and budget which in the past have appeared in the "Grey Book." This is an opportunity for the presentation of new ideas that could be used advantageously at the present meeting, for which David G. Mandelbaum has kindly agreed to serve as chairman.

The expenses of participants who are members of the United States National Commission for UNESCO will be paid by the Department of State. Reimbursement for the expenses of participants, other than those from governmental agencies, will be made by the Social Science Research Council.

The UNESCO Relations Staff of the Department of State will send to you, in advance of the meeting, copies of the agenda and relevant documents.

We regret that we are not able to offer you a choice of dates for this meeting, and hope that it will be possible for you to attend. Please let me know whether we may look forward to seeing you.
