There is every indication that Governor Muñoz will deliver a message of world-wide significance in his speech accepting the Freedom House Award. Carlos Romulo, who will accept the other Freedom House award on behalf of President Magsaysay of the Philippines, is, like Muñoz, one of America's greatest friends, and can be expected to deliver a speech that will rebound to the advantage of the U. S.

In view of all this, the United States Information Service would be missing a splendid bet if it failed to disseminate the ceremonies over the full network of the Voice of America.

I know you'll want to point this out to your friends at USIS, and I'm certain that your doing so will insure a world-wide broadcast of the Governor's speech.
