Hobart, Oklahoma, Feb 9, 1909.

Dear Him and Mrs Below that, and the jr.

I take my pen, seat in hand, to write you a few lines to let you know that I am just now enjoying a huge Cake - that is a Stumic/Kake, and also a slight touch of two Corns, and a few other ailments too minor to mention, and hope these few lines will find you enjoying the same and like blessings.

We have just got the old speckled hen, who had made application for a driver license some weeks previous, but her application had been tabled, pending, a disamentation from our friends of Party Risky (former of Pond Creek) relative to their anticipated capers in regard to summer vacation.

When we had received such information, we got a Parkers almanac, and by the aid of a table of logarithms and a slats pen we figured if we sit that hour now and if she gets along middlin fast with her "sittin" by the time you land in our town the fruits of her labor would have tail feathers almost in bloom bloom.

I might say, before I leave the old hen, that she is well and well satisfied;

I am going to Woodward the latter part of this week, to file on a farm the relinquishment to which I have by the kindness of our mutual friend Davis whom you remember visited us at Sodom.

"She" and her sister are going out and live out the farm next winter, so I will get to go out and get fresh chicken on Thanksgiving, Christmas, and groundhog day. She is going with us (as I go to Woodward) as far as Evid, where she will stop and perhaps Wayland will get up a night's trade (or parade) with Max.

By the way our friend Davis came over and visited us last week and preached a series of Rev Roz Trent's sermons for us. He is as jolly as ever; he requires

Hobart, Oklahoma, diligently after the welfare of the Red Skin and Shrs. You speak of your time of visiting us - You come just any time you can, and we will be here 'waiting' at the gate for you.
We are counting the days already. Wish you could come up this afternoon and compare notes about what old Sister Van Fleet said about us generally and individually.

By the way, I have submitted my diploma to the State Supr. and by taking two or three examinations will be granted a State ~~life~~ Certificate good for life. You know when I took the examinations at Enid, for Institute Certificate, Sister Van Fleet wired down to Luther's, asking if I passed. and when she found I did wanted to ~~to~~ sue the Territory of Oklahoma for fraud. When I get that life diploma I am going up there, and, with that parchment under our wing, I will flap the other one, and crow until the sweet temper of that damsel so completely gives way, that the ruby lips touch the ground, then will I his me away unto the tall timber and, heading away, into a secluded spot, while the moss grows on my back I will lay my weary head against the collar-bone of my favorite muse, and when my gizzard is so thoroughly soaked with artistic inspiration, it will bubble over with these beautiful sentimental lines.

Oh why should the spirit of Elma be proud,

Like an Oklahoma sand-storm, a Cyclone cloud

The fury of Elma ~~still~~ will wosey away But Caldwell and old Satan have both come to stay.

I think "she" is going to write some, so I will take this one up to the house and may-be she will go me hallo on the postage - go ahead with your arrangements to visit us and stay just as long as you can. "We're poor but we're clever!" Yours - I love -

W. W. Rowland, President.
W. D. Walton, Vice-President.

P.S. - I thought I had better tell you, that old hen & was telling you about - well she's hatched. She "dove" it while I was a waitin for "her" & got ready to write down. She hatched eleven chickens. So I think they will be ready for the fry skillet when you come, I named them "dime above", and "dime below", "she above" and "she" below, "Litts she" and "Litts dime", One of them, I named aunt Laura, one of them was hatched with a sore head so I just called him "Pond Creek". Wayland has been very sick for a few days - its better now - its was seized by a fit of actions similar to the one that visited me a few weeks ago - the only difference was that between performances ~~to~~ he insisted on eating - its thinks its better to have "eat" and lost, than not to have "it" at all. I am going to send this now - maybe "she" will ever get around to it by the time the next line goes to "Sit" -

With love from "we all" to "you all" - Xmas -
