Dear Mrs Harris: April 2nd 1920

It is not necessary for me to add a word - your good letter was more than expressive & amply paid for any effort I may have made to be the "connecting link" between Ernst Curtz & Gen. Gernon so that we all might be "in it," as dear little Robert said. And people here been so anxious to get in of being that the money has continued to come in & I have just taken it as fast as it came & had a lot of just spending it & now a second consignment is on its way. These things for your new house & the fund for Mrs James. I have had to take a great deal for granted - In instance in assuming to interpret your wishes into my ideas & if I have failed in any particular you will take the will for the deed & understand - won't you?

I have worried about your not having ice & when I saw the enclosed I just made a grab for it - I hope it will work down there as it seemed to here.
Then you spoke of curtains but did not say what kind so I bought a piece of material like I used in our summer house & you may use it as you like or sell it if you doubt & if more is needed I dare say we can get it someday.

The other things you will find a place for & please realize as you are short that our having "all in one" works both ways & is - be roughly good thinking for that kind people to resemble a work like that of the Polytechnic Institute & have seen a small part it making it grow & succeed.

Do give me in much love & a host of good wishes for you & the children & I do hope they are all well.

It has helped me to have

When Mr Harris returns I shall send into him some individual gifts which you may care to acknowledge personally - I know a note from you would mean a lot to them.

I'll enclose cards & addresses.

an interest in something far away during these long weeks that have had so much stress & strain.

There are no diaphragms that Daddy's break down did not occur while he was away.

Now I must add my love & go to market.

Yours sincerely

Elizabeth Gray Keigwin
